

NEW SAND IS COMING TO Longboat Key's Beaches

Here's what you need to know about the 2016 beach nourishment project.

Several eroded stretches of Gulf of Mexico beaches on Longboat Key will receive new sand in 2016. The beach nourishment project will enhance storm protection and recreation, while creating more beach habitat for nesting sea turtles and shorebirds.

Sand for some portions of the beach will be delivered by truck, while other areas will receive sand dredged from Longboat Pass and New Pass. Turtle nests will be relocated from areas that will be affected by beach construction activities to unaffected areas, while nesting shorebirds will be protected.

Beach access will be limited along various portions of the beach as work progresses from April through mid-October. Beach construction activities for the truck haul may take place Monday through Saturday, 6:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. During the dredging phases, sand will be pumped onto the beach around the clock, seven days per week.

We ask your patience as we work to restore Longboat Key's world-class beaches.
